SUBJECT: LANGUAGE LUNACY

We'll begin with a box, and the plural is boxes,

But the plural of ox becomes oxen, not oxes.
One fowl is a goose, but two are call geese,
Yet the plural of moose should never be meese.

You may find a lone mouse or a nest full of
mice,

Yet the plural of house is houses, not hice...
If one is a tooth and a whole set are teeth,
Why shouldn't the plural of booth be called beeth?

Then one may be that, and three would be those,

Yet hat in the plural would neve be hose,
And the plural of cat is cats, not cose.

We speak of a brother and also of brethren,
But though we say mother, we never say methren.

Then the masculine pronouns are he, his and
him,

But imagine the feminine: she, shis and shim!
Let's face it—English is a crazy language.

There's no egg in eggplant nor ham in hamburger; neither apple nor pine in pineapple.

English muffins weren't invented in England.

We take English for granted,

but if we explore its paradoxes,
we find that quicksand can work slowly, boxing rings are square, and a guinea pig is neither from Guinea nor is it a pig...

Doesn't it seem crazy that you can make amends, but not one amend.

If you have a bunch of odds and ends and get rid of all but one of them, what do you call it?
If teachers taught, why don't preachers
praught?

If a vegetarian eats vegetables, what does an humanitarian eat?...

In what other language do people recite at a play and play at a recital?

We ship by truck but send cargo by ship.

We have noses that run and feet that smell.

We park in a driveway and drive on a parkway.

And how can slim chance and fat chance be the same, while a wise man and a wise guy are opposites?

You have to marvel at the unique lunacy of a language in which your house can burn up as it burns down,

in which you fill in a form by filling it out,

and in which an alarm goes off by going on.

And, in closing, if Father is Pop,

How come Mother is not Mop?

...copied—just to bring you a smile, laugh or food for thought! Do you not feel for those who study English as a second language?
